

Javier Represas

2009-05-15

Started his career in the area of R & D Projects at the University of Industrial Engineering of Vigo, where he coordinated the development of boilers for the shipbuilding industry and refineries in India and Colombia. Subsequently entering into consulting engineering where he participated in several industrial projects, canning, refrigeration and logistics ships.

In 1998 created his own project to develop a network based on advanced information for the construction industry for which he was recognized by the National Award for Young Entrepreneurs Congress 1998 and also received the Entrepreneurship Award 1999 from University of Vigo.

He was a founding partner of EGANET, industry association of which he was president in 2000-2001, a position he left to take charge of the implementation of Alwaystone, SA and in the field of Natural Stone, won the R de Galicia Prize – ICT businesses category 2003.

He was part of the European project INBITRA, for technology transfer between different regions of the European Union.

Since 2004 has been Managing Director of Galicia Warehouses, Industrial Real Estate. At these companies has worked on developing strategic plans for development of industrial land and the establishment of numerous companies and facilities. Within these areas he has extensive experience.

Javier graduated as Industrial Engineer by the University of Vigo, Master in Quality Management and Postgraduate in Construction Development by the University of Santiago de Compostela.

In Bridgedworld specializes in Startups, Marketing, Technology, and ICT.